—The store building formerly occupied by R. L. Haelet is being materially overhauled and refitted with a plate glass front. Hon. F. X. Kreidler of Nebraska owns the property and he has given orders to have it thoroughly modernized.
—The State agricultural department has set the dates for the farmers' institutes to be held during the fall and winter throughout the State. In Forest county the dates and places are as follows: Marienville, February 18 and 19; Tionesta, Feb. 20 and 21, 1914.

—Miss Della, 16-year-old daughter of Mrs. Flora Zents, sustained a severe fracture of the bones in her left foot by a misstep while leaving her home on South Elm street, Sunday evening. Dr. Gregg attended her, and the injuries are expected to heal without serious difficulty.

—Latest word from the bedside of Mrs. J. L. Hepler of this place, who underwent a serious operation at the Kane hospital a week ago today, is to the effect that she is improving nicely and her complete recovery is expected by her physician, Dr. E. O. Kane. This will be welcome news to her many Tionesta friends.

—Acknowledgment of subscription renewals is made as follows, with thanks: G. M. Dunkle, Grifton, N. C.; John Thornton, Treumans, Pa.; B. P. Anderson, Brookston, Pa.; W. J. Hunter, Starr, Pa.; (new); J. W. McWilliams, Tionesta; Henry Rudolph, Endeavor, Pa.; (new); Daniel Ryers, Chicora, Pa.

—We have noticed frequently in other papers some boasting of "big days" work done in the harvest fields and have a story to match up with any of 'em. While harvesting wheat on the Albert Voelckhof farm a week or two ago, George W. Brady of Starr, cut and tied up 165 dozen in four hours and says he wasn't half trying. Can you beat it, can you tie it?

—We take pleasure in calling special attention to the new ad of Blum & Anderson this week. Although their line is yet quite incomplete they are prepared to take order for anything in the clothing line, and their guarantee of perfect satisfaction goes with every garment. These gentlemen purpose conducting an up-to-date Gent's furnishing and jewelry store, and in addition will continue in the clothes pressing and dry cleaning line, and in doing their best to please all customers hope to merit a large share of the public patronage.

—"The Peacemaker," presented by Endeavor talent at Boyard's hall, Friday evening, gave universal satisfaction to a good sized audience. All the parts were in capable hands and well rendered and the young people will be welcomed here should they favor us again. Danny Wallace also delighted the audience with his minstrel specialties.

—The Prohibition party of Hickory township have certified the following names to the County Commissioners to be placed upon the ballots for that township at the fall primary: Supervisor, S. E. Church; collector and assessor, J. L. Klinefiter; school directors, Guy Hilliard, Sidney Lynch; auditor, R. N. English; judge of elections, D. E. Wright; inspector, J. R. Squire.

—Archie Hood, son of George H. Hood of North Brown street, has purchased the oil lease on the Barnsdall farm, north of the city, known as the Locke lease, from E. W. Frawley. There are nine producing wells on the lease, and the new owner will drill on the property immediately. This is Mr. Hood's initial venture in the oil business, and his friends will wish him success.—Tionesta Herald.

—Henry Hobek, an attaché of the Austro-Hungarian Consulate at Pittsburgh, Pa., was a visitor in Tionesta Friday, his mission here being to investigate the causes of the burning of the boarding house at Mayburg, this county, Sunday morning, March 24, 1913, in which five of his countrymen, four men and one woman, lost their lives. He was acting under instructions from his government and spent Thursday at the scene of the fire.

—A horse that is left hitched long where the flies can torment it ought to not only have a fly net on, but also to have a free use of its head, except that the halter may be short enough so it can not reach the ground, so it can fight the flies. Tie your head back between your shoulders and stand where the flies can bite you and you will understand exactly how an animal with a tight check-rein feels when tied up and bitten by its tormentors.—Franklin News.

—Eber Bond, at one time engaged with his brother, Milton Bond, in the lumber business in this county, died at his home at Willoughby, Ohio, Sunday, August 3d. The Bonds lumbered on Bear Creek, Kingsley township, back in the '70's and are well remembered by all the older residents in this section. From here they went to Michigan, then to Alabama, and finally to Florida, where they have been extensively engaged in the brick business. When the deceased left this section he had two sons one of which died some years ago. Mrs. Bond died about three months ago. The firm bore a very honorable business reputation in their lumbering operations in Forest county.

—Sunday morning, Elliott Walters, of Leeper, Clarion county, turned a young horse loose in the pasture field and after dinner when he went to the barn he found the beast dead, having been stung to death by a swarm of bees. The insects had swarmed while the family was at church and through some freak had settled upon the horse. The torn and settled of the ground proved that the animal had rolled over an area of several yards and failing to dislodge his tormentors had headed for the barn taking several high fences during his run. The bees never deserted him and were found on his carcass by members of the family when they went to feed the stock in the afternoon.

—Mr. J. F. Broadbent, of Broadbent's Laundry of Warren, Pa., was in town yesterday and closed an arrangement with Blum & Anderson to represent his laundry interests here in the future. Mr. Broadbent stated that his success in handling linen by the new pressing process has been so successful that their new plant in Warren is working overtime, and on account of recent installation of additional machinery he proposes to cover the territory as far as express rates will permit of good service. Messrs. Blum and Anderson are hustlers in their respective lines of business. This is clearly indicated by their advertisement in this issue of the REPUBLICAN whereby a box of Broadbent's Laundered Collars will be presented free of charge to all customers the coming week. See the ad on first page.

—The Presbyterian picnic held on the court house lawn last Friday afternoon was a largely attended and very enjoyable function. A greater part of the afternoon was spent in various races and games, in which the Pink team won by scoring 600 points. The Brown team scored 540 points, Yellow 480, Green 420, Red 300, Blue 60. At 5:30 the picnic dinner was served on long tables at which about 175 persons sat down in solid comfort. The committee in charge of the feast had prepared a magnificent spread and were warmly congratulated for the manner in which it was prepared and served. The cornet band was present and enlivened the occasion with good music. In fact the outing was an unqualified success from every point of view and all the committees have the thanks of the congregation for the thoroughness with which they completed their work.

—A street fair of large proportions and embracing many excellent features both amusing and edifying, will be held at Endeavor corner tomorrow, Thursday, evening from four until ten o'clock, the proceeds from which will be devoted to the Ladies Missionary Society of that place. It will be a golden carnival of mirth and amusement with all the features of a real country fair, such as The cave of the winds, a trip around the world, the parcel post office, Rebecca at the well, the sack race, the Indian village, Japanese tea garden, fortune teller, shooting gallery, etc. A special attraction will be Danny Wallace's Darktown Minstrels with ten good singers in a musical creation of Southern minstrelsy. A fine band concert. A big athletic meet under the direction of Rex Wheeler, at 4 o'clock. Don't take baskets but buy your lunch on the grounds, admission to which is free. You have a very cordial invitation to attend this novel entertainment, and should not miss it. Remember, August 14, from 4 to 10 p. m. In case of rain the fair will be held the day following.

—Joseph Onchiuto, a lad aged about 17 years, employed at the Coleman lumbering plant, was severely injured on Tuesday evening of last week, by having a heavy plank fall upon him while assisting in loading lumber on a wagon. His left collar bone was badly fractured and he was considerably bruised about the body. Dr. Boyard attended him and he is progressing well toward recovery.

—The building on bridge street, rear of the Kepler block, is receiving a thorough overhauling and will be put in fine condition for the moving picture show which is to be put in operation about the first of September. It will be an admirable show house when completed, capable of comfortably seating a large audience, and having a commodious and well equipped stage, which can be used for other than picture shows if need be.

—Robbers blew open the safe in the postoffice at Polk, Venango county, at 3 o'clock Monday morning and secured $800 in stamps and money. Three suspects have been taken into custody, but their identification is not complete and they may be released. A lady living near the postoffice was awakened by the explosion and saw three men leaving the place, but before she could give the alarm they had made their escape, unless the suspects should prove to be the eggs.

—The third annual reunion of the Anderson family was held in Ludlow last Saturday in the park, and was attended by about sixty relatives from Warren, Brookston, Sheffield and Ludlow, and was a very pleasant affair. Warren was chosen as the meeting place for next year and the following officers were elected: President, Eli Anderson, Sheffield; Secretary, Axel H. Lawson, Warren; Treasurer, Adolph Swanson, Ludlow. A feature of the reunion was an elegant dinner that satisfied everybody.

Two Farm Barns Burned.

The barn of Ira H. Brooks located near the Tylersburg road in Green township, was burned to the ground together with all contents, as the result of a lightning stroke during the storm which passed over this section between three and four o'clock Saturday morning. One calf was also cremated, the balance of the livestock being saved. Mr. Brooks had only a few days previously stored his summer's crop of hay and grain in the barn, all of which was burned up, as well as nearly all his farm machinery, implements and vehicles. The loss is estimated at more than a thousand dollars, on which, we understand, he carried $500 insurance. This misfortune falls very heavily upon one of the community's most worthy citizens.

A large farm barn owned by Herman Blum at Newtown Mills, was burned, together with all its contents, Friday night last. Two sons of Mr. Blum had gone to the barn after nightfall to attend the stock and do the chores, taking a lantern with them. They had turned the cattle out and taken a horse and colt to the pasture field a short distance away, leaving the lantern hung up in the barn. A few minutes afterward, or about 9 o'clock, Mr. Blum discovered the fire, and with the help at hand was able to run the wagon, which still held a load of hay that had been brought in during the evening, out of the barn, and this was practically all that was saved. Several tons of hay, a wagon, buggy, horse rake, cultivator and other farming implements and a large quantity of material used in the lumber woods, such as bob sleds, chains, axes, and the like, were consumed. The barn, although built some years ago, was a substantial frame structure and was in good condition, and could not be built now for what it originally cost, so that Mr. Blum's loss is quite heavy. He carried an insurance in the Farmer's Mutual of $400 on the barn and $300 on the contents, which represents scarcely half his loss. The explosion of the lantern is supposed to have been the cause of the fire.

Mt. Zion's Harvest Home Picnic.

The Missionary Festival of Mt. Zion Lutheran church, German Hill, will be held in the grove opposite the church on Thursday, August 21st. There will be games and amusements for old and young. A picnic dinner will be one of the features of the day. At 2:00 in the afternoon, a program, which has been arranged for the occasion, will be given. All are cordially invited to attend.

Services in the church Sunday, Aug. 24th, as follows: Morning, 10:30, confirmation; 11:00, communion and communion; evening, 8:00, reunion of confirmed.

Labor Day Basket Picnic.

The first annual basket picnic to be given by Hillard Lodge, No. 1183, I. O. O. F., and Eden Lodge, No. 666, I. O. O. F., will be held in Wheeler's Grove, East Hickory, Pa., on Labor Day, Monday, Sept. 1, 1913. Fantastic parade at 8:30 a. m., led by special band for the occasion. Everybody invited to take part in same. Ball game immediately after the parade, Hillard Lodge vs. Eden Lodge. After the game all will go to the grove and partake of whatever you bring or of what you can sponge off your friends or brothers. After everyone is well filled will listen to talks on Odd Fellowship by able speakers. Immediately after addresses we will go to ball grounds where there will be races of all kinds with reasonable prizes. Ball game by Endeavor and West Hickory vs. Kellestville. Refreshments of all kinds served on the grounds. Positively no intoxicating drinks will be allowed. Music by the Endeavor Cornet Band. Everybody invited to come and help us make it a joyful success.

M. H. WITHERELL,
Chairman Hillard Lodge.
H. J. WOODIN,
Chairman Eden Lodge.

Care of Students.

Clarion State Normal cares for each student. In case of sickness there is a trained nurse at hand. Every pupil is under the direct supervision of a teacher. Students must be in their rooms at seven p. m. They must retire at ten o'clock. Thus regular habits are formed. Good habits make character. There is a strong corps of teachers for the coming year. Fall term begins Sept. 1. Write for catalog. John Ballentine, Vice Principal Clarion, Pa. Adv.

Recent Deaths.

RACHEL RINGOLD GILFILLIN.

Again we are called on to register the passing away of another old resident of Tionesta. Mrs. John R. Gilfillin died Friday, August 1, at 9:10 p. m., after an illness of some duration.

She was a daughter of George and Rachel Siggins and was born November 17, 1846, in what is now Harmony Twp., Forest county. One of nine children, and the first one of them all to "go beyond."

She was married to John R. Gilfillin, October 16, 1866, who still survives her. One brother, Orion of West Hickory, and seven sisters, are left viz: Mrs. Harriet Howe of Kansas City; Mrs. Hannah Gilfillin of Warren; Mrs. Smith of Tylersburg; Mrs. June E. Wheeler of Mercer and Misses Frances, Jennie and Justina of West Hickory.

A woman of remarkably positive opinions, she yet had a kind and willing heart to relieve and alleviate distress, and was always open to the call of duty.

Member of the M. E. church, and the funeral, conducted by Rev. Dr. Day, her pastor, was held Monday afternoon from the family home, with interment in Tionesta cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilfillin came to Tionesta in August, 1872, and have since continuously resided here.—Tionesta News.

MRS. A. W. MONG.

Mrs. Ida May Mong was born near Tylersburg, Clarion county, Pa., June 23, 1868, and died at her home near Tionesta, Pa., August 8, 1913, aged 45 years, 1 month and 15 days. Mrs. Mong was the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Mealy. In the year 1888 she was united in marriage with Mr. A. W. Mong, who survives her. To this union were born eight children, two of whom have gone before, and six survive, as follows: Roy A., of Franklin, Pa.; Nora, Howard, Forest, Russell and Harold, who remain at home. She is also survived by four brothers and four sisters. Funeral services were held in the Evangelical church at Mt. Zion, Sunday afternoon, conducted by Rev. Mr. Wygant, of Lickingville, assisted by Rev. B. F. Felt, of Tionesta. The family wish to thank the neighbors and friends for the kindness shown them during their sad bereavement.

The long, last farewell is spoken; The angel voice is hushed; And we in sadness and heart forsaken Mourn the loss of our dear mother. Farewell sweet mother, a long farewell We meet no more on earth; Thy spirit now hath gone to dwell Where days celestial take their birth. And oh, what glad joyous meeting When all reach the golden shore, And hand clasps and words of welcome And parting shall be no more.

JOHN B. LEONARD.

John B. Leonard died at his home in Waukegan, Illinois, on Sunday, August 10, 1913, beloved and respected by the entire community, amidst which he had lived for many years.

Mr. Leonard was descended from Huguenot ancestry, of those distinguished people who, driven out of France, found a home and asylum at an early date in the states of New York, New England and South Carolina, and gave tone to the early settlements, laying deep the foundation of American liberty. He was born in Burlington, Vermont, February 9, 1835. His mother's name was Gardner and she was a sister of the celebrated evangelist, Orville Gardner, of New York City, the friend of Horace Greeley. He received in his youth the education that was common in that day at the common schools of old Green Mountain State, that he always loved so well and to which he made many pilgrimages in the course of his long and useful life. The poet has well said, "All the world's a stage and man is but an actor; and man in his time plays many parts." There are no exceptions to this truth in human life. In youth he was a sailor, the ambition of many New England youths. Finding naturally fond of adventure, we find him crossing the plains en route to California with a train of "prairie schooners." This trip was full of adventure, and near Fort Bridger the party were forced to corral their train and fight Indians, who attempted to capture it. The caravan remained at Fort Bridger, on the edge of the Rocky Mountains, for nearly a month. After an experience in the mining regions common to the pioneers, he sailed for Australia and remained there for some time, after which he came to Chicago and from there came to Tionesta in 1861, and engaged in business with Kelly, Holmes & Co., at which time he also launched out in the oil business at Pithole and the Green Farm, in which business he was highly successful.

The 10th day of November, 1892, marks the date of his marriage with Josephine May, who survives him, daughter of the late Huntington H. and Frances A. May, early and well known residents of Tionesta. Their married life was an ideal one, rearing a large and useful family, viz: Bertha, deceased, intermarried with Edmund Bleakley, of Franklin, Pa.; Augusta, deceased, married to Charles Vassar, of Chicago; William M., Besie L., deceased, married to Nelson A. Steele, of Waukegan, Ill.; Dr. John B., Jr., a prominent physician of Houston, Texas; Huntington May, and Archibald K. In the year 1897 the family moved to Waukegan, which has since been their home.

After this very brief sketch of his interesting and useful life, the following might be added: He was a paragon of industry—cheerful temperament, frank—in short, a natural man, quick to make friends and possessing the faculty of retaining them. He delighted to tell of his many interesting travels and adventures, and was an excellent story teller. Kind not only to himself, but to all whom he could help and comfort. His idea of serving God was to serve his fellow man, believing with an eminent American theologian who called the kind of service "The perfection of religion." His friends will long miss him; miss his cheerful, cordial greeting, and the "touch of a vanished hand."
